

Thank You, OU College of Pharmacy

On Feb. 8, I posted a letter expressing my appreciation to the College of Pharmacy team, led by Dr. Susan Conway and Eric Johnson, senior associate dean. They spearheaded a remarkable collaborative effort along with OU Health and the Oklahoma County Dept. of Health to ensure the distribution and administration of COVID-19 vaccinations. I am especially proud of how our students volunteered in administering vaccines, as well as providing those extra hands vitally needed for each clinic!

Just last week, on May 19, OUHSC issued new guidelines for the campus regarding masking policies and other protocols. The success of our vaccination efforts has benefitted thousands of faculty, staff and students.

Your professionalism, teamwork and dedication contributed to a remarkably successful vaccination campaign. This graphic contains just a small snapshot of what was accomplished.

We are proud to be an integral part of our state's efforts in protecting our community.
